

NEO-GEO AES PRICE GUIDE

YOUR #1 UNBIASED SOURCE
FOR NEO-GEO PRICES

This list only covers officially released home cartridges.

Prices are calculated by researching actual sales conducted through various online sources. Actual sales are monitored from various boards & mailing lists, experiences from the Neo Store, & normal bidding prices at ebay. The ended auctions of ebay do hold relevance related to current market values.

Keep in mind that this guide is most accurate when used in a Western market perspective. More specifically, the North American market. The prices on this list are frequently updated to provide both the buyer and seller with a general idea of what they can expect. Use this helpful information accordingly.

A couple notes on nationality - an alternate nationality version of a "Japanese only" game may exist, but it will not be documented here until solid proof of an English version surfaces. The use of separate listings for alternate nationalities will only be used when there is an evident difference in both rarity and value.

All cartridges listed are assumed to be in used, near mint condition. Also, they are all assumed to be complete (insert, manual, sticker, case) as well as 100% SNK-authentic. Depending on missing or damaged parts, prices will vary.

The first number is the lowest price that you will ordinarily find the cartridge selling for in used, near mint condition. Any price less than this is considered a real bargain. The second value is the highest reasonable amount someone might pay for the complete cartridge. Any more, and chances are you could find it cheaper someplace else. The far right column is a rarity list. It is meant to give a general idea of how often you find these cartridges for sale.

EC : extra common

C : common

U : uncommon

R : rare

ER : extra rare

EER : extremely extra rare, near impossible to find!

+ = price can escalate greater than the quoted high value

★ = this game is thought to be Japanese only in release origin dog-tag = Dog Tag version, released in USA only euro = European (Euro) version, non dog tag, not released in USA

Y = price increase

B = price decrease
